

At the Global Gateway Forum, the European Union and Mexico took a significant step toward a more sustainable and prosperous joint future, presenting a major package of projects under ...

Claudia Sheinbaum is navigating Mexico's energy transition by supporting Pemex and advancing ambitious renewable energy goals.

The EU supports Mexico's transition to a sustainable, low-carbon economy through investments and technical assistance across energy, circular economy, water planning, and forest and biodiversity ...

Mexico has enormous potential to develop renewable energy projects. The country has high solar radiation, wind capacity, and geothermal sources. In addition, with the right technologies ...

For instance, Mexico City grants newly incorporated businesses in high-technology sectors, including renewable energy, a 30% reduction in property tax, a 55% reduction in payroll tax ...

The transition to renewable energy in Mexico offers multiple solutions: First, it reduces the country's vulnerability to fluctuations in oil and gas prices, providing energy stability. It also ...

There are currently six cities in Mexico that have introduced renewable energy targets and policies, as well as aims for net-zero carbon emissions by 2050, covering 13.5 million people or around 13.2% of ...

The Mexican government has announced the approval of 20 private renewable generation projects with a combined installed capacity of 3,320 MW and 1,488 MW of energy ...

Mexico's population is expected to grow to more than 150 million towards 2050 from 120 million today. This, together with improvements in productivity, will drive economic growth. As a ...

At the 2023 COP27 summit, Mexico revealed the Sonora Plan, a megaproject with an estimated cost of USD7 billion to ramp up renewable energy and capacity, and with it, industrial ...

Web: <https://rrrprojects.co.za>